3	Shell Fischer	Daylong Meditation Retreat: Befriending Our Fear	Fear is a natural part of being alive. Yet, when our fears overwhelm us, we can feel increasingly isolated, defensive, or out of control. Instead of fleeing or fighting, the way out of this and into a more calm state of grace is to get-to-know, and even be-friend our fears. In this retreat, we will explore ways to do this with courage and compassion. The format will include both guided and silent meditation, a dharma talk, and walking meditation. Please note: Meditation experience is recommended, but not required.	Date: 6/10/2017; 9:30 - 4:30 Winners 2 Value: $65 per spot

4	Shell Fischer	Daylong Meditation Retreat: Nurturing Self-Compassion	The Buddha taught that you can search the universe for someone more deserving of your love and affection than yourself, and you will not find that person anywhere. And yet, so often, it seems much easier for us to offer compassion and forgiveness to others than to ourselves, and we tend to give ourselves a hard time for our human imperfections. During this silent retreat, we'll explore different ways to offer more of our love, care, and forgiveness to the person we spend the most time with – ourselves. The format will include both guided and silent meditation, a dharma talk, and walking meditation both inside the sanctuary, and outside. Please note: Meditation experience is recommended, but not required.	Date: 9/9/2017; 9:30 - 4:30 Winners: 2 Value: $65 per spot
